ThumbnailCity Free X64

The application offers users an opportunity to set a default thumbnail for their video files, allowing them to easily distinguish their video files. Batch image processing: The application is able to manage multiple images at once. Added frames to the selected video files: The application will assign a new frame for any video file that is being processed by the app. Usage of the app: Select the video files in your Windows directory and right-click on one to instantly assign a specific frame as a thumbnail. Installation process: The app is installed with relative ease by going into the location of your desired files and clicking on the.exe file. Browsing to the Windows directory: Users can browse their video files directly from the directory. ThumbnailCity Cracked Version Compatibility: The app runs on Windows XP, Vista and Windows 7. How to set the images as a default screen saver, wallpaper or background? Add your image to images directory: For the purpose of this tutorial, we will be using a.jpg file (a simple picture of your choice). Simply, copy the picture in the photos directory of your hard disk. Open the file by double clicking on it, then right-click on it and choose Properties. Resize the picture to 640x480 pixels, and make it into a.jpg extension file. Change the name of the file to something like "DefaultImage.jpg" (or something you like). Go back to the original image file and press the delete button (like so). Go back to the DefaultImage.jpg file, then change the extension to.bmp (if you wish to save the picture as a.bmp file). Save the image file as a.bmp extension file. Copy and paste the image file in your Windows Pictures directory (click on the folder that is your Windows Pictures directory, then go into the folder and press CTRL+V). The folder should now have a new picture as a default wallpaper. How to use this? To set this picture as a wallpaper, simply right-click on your desktop and click on the New Background button. Click on the Desktop Pictures and then on the Choose Picture button. Click on the browse button next to the Choose Picture button, navigate to the image file and choose the picture that you want as your new wallpaper. Next, click on the Set as Wallpaper button.
