How do I change the Russian language into English for the game Left 4 Dead 2? – io9 –.Q: Can't install bash on mac osx 10.8 (can't log in, but can run bash) I'm trying to install bash on my mac osx 10.8, but I can't even log in (it just drops me to the desktop with a dollar sign). It seems to be part of the terminal app, because when I start Terminal, and hold option to open the console, it shows me the command line where I can just type bash to run it, but after that, I don't have access to anything. I can't do anything, the application icon disappears and the only thing in my menu bar is the Terminal.app. This is strange because before this started happening, I had only one bash and everything was working fine. When I get to the login screen, if I press the little round symbol thing in the corner of the keyboard, I get the traditional login screen with the list of user names. What can I do to fix this? Thanks. A: Try typing "bash" at the command line. I think you'll find it'll start up as a login shell. You can try logging in as the first user, and then starting a shell to see if that works. If so, you can just set your.bash_profile or.bash_login to reference the bash binary in your path. If it doesn't work, you can set your PATH to include a directory for bash executables (most likely /usr/bin) and try again.
