Grand Theft Auto V features a variety of music from classic rock bands to original compositions. The soundtrack for the game combines original songs with cover tracks, and a variety of in-game tracks are used in various radio broadcasts. I wouldn't normally buy this game, it sounded dull at first, but after a few hours of listening to the game's music i realised it was amazing and that I actually enjoyed the game more than what i thought it would be. I was pleasantly surprised and when I heard that Adam Press had remixed the soundtrack and gave it a bass heavy remix i bought it. The remixed soundtrack is for the first half of the game, but i've bought it for the second half as well so i can listen to it in 2x for the full effect. The songs on this soundtrack include: Identity Theft No More Rubicon A Piece of Cake The Morning Never Comes You'd better Prepare All Things Must Pass The Procession The Great Gig in the Sky The Chamber Us and Them The Buggles Revelation The Sacrifice Fluff Wish You Were Here Spiral Architect Ministry of the Last Home Wishing on the Same Star Pictures of Lily The Great Gig in the Sky I got This Body NOTE: All the tracks in this item are copyright of their respective owners, the link to the songs used are below. What's up my homies! It's your boy Darkstar and today I decided to play some music I didn't really like to get this new soundtrack out of my system while I had some time on my hands. Ya know, a few years back I made this one song which basically caused people to call me a hack because the song was called "To The Moon" and the game was RUSE. It was the end of February and that meant it was okay to make a song about space. The Game itself was one of my first in the 360's life and I remember calling it a shameless rip off. While the game's greatest thing is the game's graphics, the soundtrack by Adam Press and its really good, I'm actually pretty sure I ripped it off. Anyways, I'm a sucka for anything Adam Press does. I dont expect much from him, but I do like what he does. Well, I mean he does sound a lot like me, but who cares. The game was a little dull at first, emanor D, Garden S. Nick Madsen, Ph.D., in his book, "The Delicious Truth About Exercise" says, " A recent study compared the blood-level accumulation of fat in women deprived of daily meals for 4 days. After the first day of fasting, the women were deprived of anything consumed between mealtime and bedtime. Another group of subjects, referred to as the'refed' condition, got to eat every 2 hours. The first group, the 'fasted' condition, lost 48% more weight over the 4-day period than the'refed' subjects." Another study: "The Effect of First and Second Meals of the Diet on Appetite and Weight Gain". "Healthy volunteers, hospitalized for routine abdominal surgery, ate ad libitum (any amount) for 27 days while their dietary intakes and body weight were measured. Findings: First Lunch, first meal of the day, significantly reduced energy intake, hunger, and body weight, and increased serum cortisol. Second Lunch (within 1 hour) increased energy intake, hunger, and somatic symptoms, increased cortisol and glucagon, attenuated the increase in insulin secretion triggered by the first lunch, and reduced cortisol and glucagon compared to 24 hour fasted condition. Hypoglycemia symptoms increased after both the first and second lunches. The timing of the second meal was a major factor in counterbalancing the effect of the first meal on the morning cortisol levels." Yep. Physiological.A realist (pro stomach emptying factor) would agree, and we know that happens in the human body.A realist would also know that fasting is not a healthy behavior and it can cause one or more of the following: signs and symptoms of possible, likely, or certain malnutrition oral or nasal reflux; meaning regurgitation into the mouth or throat constipation or diarrhea; dehydration and severe water loss may occur bruising of gums or tongue yellowing of the whites of the eyes In other words, the body (general health and the digestive system) being on minimal to zero food / calories for extended periods of time. The days (weeks, months) and may even be years. One person might not have enough time to 'fast and rage'. Another does. In my personal case, I do 'fast'. (I use the word 'fast' in the same context as a vegetarian living in China

In the far east, the situation in Iran has suddenly become critical. An American superpower has just threatened to launch a nuclear strike against Iran. Despite the fact that in international law he must declare a state of war over an enemy of such importance, the President of the USA has not taken any measures to enforce that; at the same time, the US continues its involvement in the internal conflict in the country. Russia has sent an elite unit of American soldiers called RSCS to Iran in order to protect its interests in the Strait of Hormuz and thus to ensure the flow of the Persian oil. MAD UH-1/SA-342 Helicopter campaign is a particular type of mission game that takes place in the air. The player should perform a number of different missions using UH-1V and SA-342 Gazelle helicopters; for example, he should protect convoys, search for missing aircraft, attempt a precision strike on enemy positions, use of the tactical bombing ordnance, etc. Among the missions are: Civilian protection in a radioactive zone; Search and rescue; Search and destroy mission; Identification of wanted persons or groups of persons; Breaching of terrorist camps; Escort of VIPs; Engaging in helicopter air combat; Helicopter combat in the ground combat zone. Together with Iran, you will take part in the series of campaigns called MAD Mutually Assured Destruction. RSCS is a powerful PMC established for the protection of private interests of Russian companies in the Strait of Hormuz. You are a combat helicopter pilot of a PMC called RSCS, sent to Iran to put an end to the unlawful actions of the USA. Your mission is to protect the interests of the Russian oil companies. Your helicopter is armed with missiles and cannon. For successful completion of your missions, you need to have an effective combination of technical equipment and combat skills. Note. Gaps between the missions in the series MAD Mutually Assured Destruction can be closed with historical events of the Great Patriotic War. Supported on: DCS: UH-1H Huey by Belsimtek DCS: SA342 Gazelle by Polychop Simulations DCS WorldThe Monday Night Sound Clash is back for its 3rd season this year on Al Jazeera America (click here for details).
