Considering the increase in the incidence of thyroid cancer in Northern Italy, this study sought to evaluate the possible relations between thyroid cancer and environmental contamination. Through the use of multivariate analyses, the authors found an association between thyroid cancer and living in the province of Ferrara, in the Po Delta, where there are still discharges of effluents with radioactive ions into the Tiber River. Based on their results and those of other authors, the authors conclude that currently available environmental data are not sufficient to conclude with certainty whether there are relationships between thyroid cancer and environmental contamination; however, these results should lead to further, more precise studies in the future.Q: Trying to use textfield.text value in a string I am trying to assign a string to a textfield 6d1f23a050
