. To find out where to install it, do to it. Create Room Where am I going wrong? A: Here's a JSFiddle with your code working, your issue is that you have to first initialize the variable e.g. `var roomname = ""`, and then you have to use it. JavaScript is case sensitive. `var roomname = document.getElementById("roomname"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc");` Should be: `var roomname = document.getElementById("roomname"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc"); var roomdesc = document.getElementById("roomdesc");` And you should avoid naming variables/functions like you did ("roomdesc" with a dash at the end... you're a lawyer right?). A former headmaster who "ordered the cheerleaders" and "laughed at the victims" has been jailed for sex crimes against three girls and a boy. Timothy Walter Brown, 47, stood trial for 28 counts of sexual activity with a child and 14 of indecent assault against eight boys and girls at the Luton High School for Girls, Luton Crown Court heard on Tuesday.
