Yes, the FSX SuperBug has smoke. You can set the color in ACM and it is enabled with the normal FSX key combination. In this case, smoke can only be seen on those tracks where there is fog. You can enable fog by going to the weather settings. And if you make the weather settings, then you can turn on the smoke. Depending on the weather settings, you can see the smoke that appears when it rains over the track. However, in FSX, unlike FSX Airline, there is no power limit. You can make an engine in an airplane, just like a regular airplane, with a lot of power. This makes FSX a truly challenging game.
