Including WinXP .. Soon ((INSTALL))

Hi, Recently updated iPhone 3g from 2.0 to 4.2.1 (not jailbroken) via the iTunes App Store. After updating iPhone back to 2.0, it would not jailbreak (with any of the jailbreak apps). It's a new model for them, it's as if they have just released the product. After restoring it back to 2.0 jailbroken back to 2.0, it will not jailbreak again. Any thoughts, comments? hi guys, i cant install any other version of ios other than 2.0.0 or 2.0.1 because my iphone 3g is not jailbroken..i have tried to jailbreak 2.1.1 version but it doesnt work...can u please tell me wat to do.....pls suggest me some solution First you will have to prepare a custom firmware for your iDevice i.e., iPhone, iPod Touch, iPad or Apple TV. For this purpose you can use Snowbreeze if you are on Windows (head over to this post for complete guide) or PwnageTool if you are a Mac user (read this post for complete instructions). After you have successfully cooked the firmware, use iREB to put the idevice into DFU (Pwned) state and upload the custom-made firmware to it. At this point, you should have a rooted iPhone. That may not mean much if you're reading this with a computer, but if you're reading it on your iPhone, you can remote control your iPhone in iTunes on your computer and access the root account on your phone. Just follow the instructions to set up your phone as a tethered jailbreak, then start your SSH client and connect to your phone over a ssh connection. If you've followed the guide correctly, you will now have an unlocked iPhone and you will be able to use it on other carriers. Devices that can not be unlocked will simply be jailbroken, some of which may be tethered. You can read the difference between tethered jailbreak vs untethered jailbreak, but essentially a tethered jailbreak requires you to connect your iPhone to boot the jailbroken device and use things like Cydia and Safari. iOS 10 added support for external Accessories, including the Apple Watch. To create an Apple Watch app, the developer must use the watchOS software development kit (SDK) on the Apple Watch and CoreBluetooth on the iPhone. (iOS 10 apps are limited to the first-generation Apple Watch models.) The Apple Watch also allows developers to receive and display notifications from the iPhone. I have done the redsn0w 0.9.6b5 jailbreak, bb update to 6.15.00 and installed ultrasn0w 1.2 tooo on iPhone3GS 4.1 and rebooted the phone. But it doesn't make much difference, but for the thing that my phone is jailbroken, I get a message saying restricted network : your selected cellular network is restricted. You can choose a different network in settings pls help (I tried and it works with other cellular company sims so it's like half cracked) 5ec8ef588b
